Updates From Dewy

It's my birthday month! Shoutout to my fellow Virgo/Libra cusp folks (if you do the tropical calculations anyway). This past year has been quite the interesting one. Starting the radio show sticks out as quite the creative leap of faith. Relistening to the season, there were certainly things I'd phrase a little differently. But I'm quite happy I did it anyway. Plus, some of the episodes aged soooooo well.

This Past Month on the Blog and Show

And we're back! This last week marked the first blog post (a poem) since my summer break. While I appreciated the break, I really missed writing. Creative backup is very real. You'll be seeing a lot of stuff that I put in my notes app over the summer these coming weeks.

As to the show? Season 2 begins on September 25 at 7:00 PM CT and 8:00 PM ET on 201.5 Reality Central Radio. They actually revamped the whole site and such. You can listen in at realityradio.net or dewy.nyc/radio. While my timeslot is officially an hour, the premiere is going to be a super long special. But it's going to be so much fun.

Your Regularly Scheduled Dewy (Repeating Events)

Tarot is on pause for now. Interested in hosting? Just let me know!

The Radio Demon in Residence? at RPM Underground (Manhattan, NY): September 26 from 5-?

Dewy's Ones and Dones (One Time Events)

Thanks to everyone who came out to MoonBodies! It was a powerful experience for all involved. Missed it? I'm sure this wasn't the last time it will be put on. But we all need a break.

The primary event this month is coming on September 25 at 8:00 PM ET! Season 2 of The Radio Demon's Lair is coming and there's nothing you can do to stop it. You'll want to have been there.

Shameless Dewy Plugs

Act 2 of Hazbin on Broadway is still a month or so out before the first parts of that go live. I think I will have to do a second round of commentary for Act 1. Stay tuned!
