

The Dewyletter

Giving me an alibi since 2025!

December 2025

Updates From Dewy

As I continue on my path, it's becoming clear that my creative ventures are becoming professional obligations. It's truly amazing how anything will become work when you do it often enough. Perhaps I'll write a poem or something on that. But this paradigm shift has been really freeing; I'm planning on making more clear work hours for myself so I don't burn out (for one, blog entries will come out on Monday from now on instead of Sunday).

This Past Month on the Blog

A lot of cool stuff this month, with a particular focus on my magical practice, from a look at the Bodhisattva Vow to a reflection of this year of will to a love letter listicle about the archetypes of who you run into at ritual. In addition to that, I got to review a fantastic production that you should really make an effort to see if you have the opportunity. I also had a moment to reflect about my baby's first illness; looking back on that, I realized how difficult that was to witness and I'm glad they're ok.

Your Regularly Scheduled Dewy (Monthly Events)

Tarot Readings at Hamilton Underground (Manhattan, NY): December 20 from 12-4

Tarot Readings at The Neverending Story (Babylon, NY): December 27 from 1-8

The Radio Demon in Residence at RPM Underground (Manhattan, NY): December 20 from 5-?

One and Done Events

Tarot readings at Hamilton Underground this month will be a Yule/solstice themed event because, 'tis the season! Otherwise, not doing anything particularly crazy this month because... tis' the season! See you in 2026!

Shameless Plugs

You should have gotten the other announcement email, but I have a weekly radio show that airs each Friday at 7:00 CT/8:00 ET! You can now listen directly on the website (on the new "The Radio Demon's Lair" page) as I got permission to embed the station directly. It's also a pretty good station as far as their normal play goes. Also, if you missed any episodes, you can listen to the backlog there!
