

The Dewyletter

May 2026

Keeping it real since 2025!

Updates From Dewy

Hey there! Good to be back. April was a month that ended up having a lot of health issues and I finally feel like myself again.

Also, the original proprietor of The Neverending Story has moved and the business is changing accordingly! The upshot is that I'll likely not be doing tarot there for a little while the store transitions. What will I do with this free time? Who knows! You know me; I'm really bad at sitting on my hands.

This Past Month on the Blog and Show

Two new poems for this month, one seasonal and one about my path. The other blog posts are quite foolish, from a look at practical time travel to a dare of making a foolish fruit salad. It's fun!

The radio show returned with two new episodes in April, one being "The AI Episode" where I discussed generative AI in music among other things. The other was me absolutely eviscerating my boss on the air. Both are worth a listen and are a good time.
